

ABSTRACT

[0043] A method and an apparatus for a positioning system and augmentation of a global positioning system (GPS) are provided. The system includes at least one transmitter and at least one transceiver. The transceiver is able to calculate a position of the transceiver relative to the transmitter using information sent by the transmitter to the transceiver.

42390P10401X